Subgrade Preparation and Subgrade impact on Slabs on Grade

American Concrete Institute
Greater Miami Valley Chapter

Visit our website www.acigmvc.com

Ron Lech is a geotechnical engineer with H.C.Nutting, a Terracon Company, in Cincinnati Ohio. Mr. Lech is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati (BS and MS in Civil/ Geotechnical Engineering) and has 14 years of experience working with local soil conditions on construction projects. Much of this work has involved evaluation and remediation of soil subgrade for slab-on-grade and concrete pavements. The focus of this presentation will be the subgrade preparation options discussed in his article entitled "Maintaining Slab Subgrade" published in the February, 2008 issue of Concrete Construction magazine. The presentation will discuss options to maintain good subgrade and stabilize soft subgrade for large concrete placements.

Bridging the Gap Between
Theory and Practice

with the Greater Miami Valley Chapter

Mission Statement: Through comradeship we will provide information and promote technology, design, and construction in the concrete industry.

Our Vision: To help create the highest quality of concrete construction in a flourishing industry

Sid Grauman began construction on his sumptuous Chinese Theatre in January 1927. One day shortly thereafter, Norma Talmadge accidentally walked across a wet slab of concrete... and inadvertently inspired the tradition for which the theater is famous: Hundreds of celebrity handprints and footprints (and "otherprints") now endow the concrete forecourt and Grauman's Chinese Theatre (which opened in May 1927) remains among the most popular tourist attractions in Southern California.
